DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claim 1 now recites an order to which cuts are made for the procedure. No such limitations as to what cut is made first, second, and third can be gleaned from the drawings or specification as originally filed. Claim 1 also recites half of the width of the greater trochanter and middle of the lesser trochanter, neither of which having support in the drawings or specification as originally filed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sioufi (US Patent 5,409,489). Sioufi discloses an instrument for sub-trochanteric rotational osteotomy (Figure 2) that does not detach the greater trochanter (~0) because it bores a cone through the head of the femur detaching only the ball (~1). With the screw (7), it is able to rotate the head until the damaged portion (K) is rotated out of the weight-bearing interface. The ball is fixed to the femur after the procedure by a compression plate and screw (Figure 8a).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the prior art method shown in Figures 1-3. The prior art method shows a cut that extends approximately half the width of the greater trochanter; at this point, a second cut is shown extending to the lesser trochanter; a third cut is shown extending from this point back towards the femoral head; rotating the head; and fixed the head with screws (6).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on August 28th, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant alleges that the new limitations of cuts are not disclosed in Sioufi, however most of the applicant's new limitations constitute new matter as described earlier. As shown in the rejection over the admitted prior art, Sioufi does then disclose a cut that extends as described, two straight above and below the femoral head and one arced between.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
